Rajah's Triumph Over Motor Car.
To-day we came upon a rajah driving in a motor car drawn by a pair of horses! Something had upset the internal economy of the car, and as this was not the first time the car had failed the rajah had bit upon the brilliant idea of dispensing with petrol and using the good old horses
instead—Madras Mail.

WHY WHISKY IS DESIGNATED

Different Grades Are Named According to the Amount of Pure Product That It Contains.

(Special Correspondence.)
Washington, D. C., April 15.—
There is a song more or less popular at present entitled, "Everybody's Happy." This briefly describes the delicious state of mind of all parties
interested in the late controversy over whisky. If anything could have moved a cynical and calloused mind
to mirth, it would have been a scene
in the Willard lobby the night after the whisky decision was announced.
On the one side was Dr. Harvey Wilson, sometimes irreverently termed
"Dr. Willibits Wilcy," surrounded by a group of admirers and explaining to them in what respect the decision of the President and Attorney General Bonaparte in regard to whisky
merited his approval and sustained his views. At the other end of the lobby Mr. W. M. Hough, the attorney for the National Association of Wholesale Liquor Dealers, was holding court, surrounded by his admirers
and informing them that the decision met his warmest approval. Thus the two leaders in the great whisky controversy appeared to be equally well satisfied with the attitude that detectable and potent fluid popularly known as "whisky." For some years
your correspondent has watched with a desultory sort of interest the war
which has raged over the definition of this term. As far as I can see the decision of the learned attorney general, approved by the President, has accomplished one great feat. It has externally knocked the "e" out of whisky. This in itself is something to be commended. As a matter of fact neither Dr. Wilcy nor Mr. Hough
wanted to preserve the term whisky
sacred to the use of distillers following a certain formula whose product is distilled and bottled in bond under government supervision. Mr. Hough wished the term extended to cover all those engaged in rectifying, blending
and perhaps compounding, liquors
popularly known and sold for "one hundred years under the name of whisky." The President, in settling the dispute, says "straight whisky" will be labeled as such, but wisely
does not undertake to define just what straight whisky is. In the course of time we may expect the department of agriculture to formulate rules
and processes for the manufacture of straight whisky. When it does the Internal Revenue bureau will have something to say. To get a correct idea of the practical workings of the efforts of the agricultural chemist to regulate the consumption of liquor I dropped into Shoemaker's, the best known resort in Washington city and examined some of their stock. I was struck forcibly by the wording of some of the bottles. President Roosevelt has decided that a mixture of two or more straight whiskeys shall be labeled blended whisky, a mixture of straight whisky and ethyl alcohol
shall be labeled compounded, and imitation whisky shall be labeled as such. But what? O what? are we to know about something that is merely Baltimore Rye, or Pennsylvania Rye,
or Tennessee or Kentucky Bourbon?
Is there any power vested in the President or any other officer of the United States to compel a concern
putting liquid into bottles to label it
"whisky"? I venture to say that not half of the people consuming what is known to the trade as "case goods"
look for the word whisky, and if it is labeled Rye or Bourbon or given some other distinctive title and its consumption gives the desired effect
they will be as well pleased as though
it were labeled straight whisky,
blended or imitation. I discovered
there is a popular brand known to the trade as a compounded or even perhaps imitation whisky which does not use the term whisky on its labels.
It sells its product under the trade mark and as such it is doubtful if the ruling of the President will compel
it to alter its labels.

There are other whiskeys, if the old term can be applied to them, which are a mixture of whiskeys. In anticipation of the President's decision
these firms have already marked case goods with labels bearing the word blend. One of these submitted for my inspection is a marvel of ingeniousness. The label was black and gold, and in large bold letters on a
black background it had the words,
"Rye Whisky," with the name of the manufacturer. In one corner it bore
the statement that it did not contain any deleterious drugs or added poisons, apparently a satirical reflection.
The center was taken up by a fancy
design and in minute letters at the top of the design, in slightly heavier gold, is the word "blend." The only way this word could be seen by the naked eye was by holding the bottle horizontally, almost on a level with the eye. From this examination it is deduced that the champions of straight whisky have failed first, in confining the term whisky to their own product, and second, in their endeavor to compel other manufacturers
to use the words "compounded,"
"blended," or "imitation." It is safe to say that no manufacturer of intoxicating liquors is going to put the word "imitation" on his product. Instead, they will call it "John Jones Rye" or "Old Kentucky Bourbon"
manufactured by the Dugdale Distilling company, or something to that effect. On the other hand the rectifiers did not succeed in preventing a semi-official endorsement of so-called straight whisky. This term has been used for a number of years to designate whisky which passes from the distillery to the charré barrel, and from there to the consumer without
the intervention of any other process or additional rectification. There is no doubt that Attorney General Bonaparte and President Roosevelt had
this process in mind when they made their recent ruling. Hereafter, when the word "straight" appears on a bottle in conjunction with the word
"whisky" he who runs may read that such whisky comes straight from the still as pure and undefiled as moonshine whisky, except for the coloring
and flavor it may absorb from storage in a charred barrel, and the oxidation of the fusel oil and the addition of water to bring it to 100 proof. No one pretends that storing whisky in a charred barrel for a few years—the government limits it—to
from four to eight years—in the case
of whisky bottled in bond—completely
oxidizes out the fusel oil.

I am also told there is a subtle distinction between ethyl alcohol and neutral spirits, which I had previously thought were the same, and which opinion is apparently shared by the President and Mr. Bonaparte. I am told that compounded whisky is not manufactured by the addition of ethyl alcohol and nothing else; neutral spirits seems to have a certain amount of flavoring matter and water, being drawn whisky after it has passed through a second process of refining. I confess the distinction is too fine for me to follow.

ARE TO BE STRICT
AS TO ATHLETICS

University of Wisconsin Athletic Committee Men Business Strict
J. Now Days.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., April 15.—The action of the intercollegiate conference
in insisting upon the strict maintenance of the "athletic purity" agreement, even to the dismissal of the University of Wisconsin alike by athletic conference, is applauded at the University of Wisconsin alike by athletic authorities and students. This is true notwithstanding the fact that Wisconsin's relations with Michigan
were perhaps more cordial than with any other of the members of the conference. It is felt here that to abandon the conference agreement at this time would be exceedingly unwhole-
some to the purity of college athletics,
because the reforms inaugurated over
a year ago have not been adequately tried, and abandonment now would indicate a desire to return to the old regime of athletic wickedness without waiting to test the efficacy of the remedies. It is felt too, that Michigan has been acting too "uppish" of late and has been aching for an opportunity to project itself into a class
over and above and beyond the other western institutions, so that the present time of Wolverine desertion of reform is a good one for letting her out of the conference. To Wisconsin it makes little difference, it seems,
whether other schools abide by the conference reform agreements, for under no circumstances will the Wisconsin faculty allow athletic competition other than under reform regulations, and if every other school were
to abandon the conference agreement,
then Wisconsin would of its own motion abandon intercollegiate athletic contests entirely.

WAR COLONELS OF STATE TROOPS

COL. J. A. WATROUS WRITES FOR
THE GAZETTE INTERESTINGLY.

JANESVILLE ON THE LIST

Men Who Rose to Prominence in the Great Struggle of the Sixties—
Many Living.

(By Col. J. A. Watrous, U. S. A.)
Men who were marked, noted men upon whom all in the state looked with more or less interest because each one led 1,000 or more young men
to a terrific war nearly half a century ago—where are they now? Echo answers, "where?"

Am I mistaken in believing that there are a great many people in Wisconsin, besides the men who followed them, who would be interested in a sketch containing a reference to the citizens, the lawyers, lumbermen,
doctors, educators, farmers and others
who led regiments to the great war,
and those who succeeded in command of Wisconsin soldiers. Surely not.

John C. Starkweather, of Milwaukee, went out with the First Wisconsin both when it was a three months'
and a three years' regiment. George B. Brigham, of Milwaukee, became colonel when Starkweather was made a brigadier general. Both have been dead many years.

S. Park Coon, Milwaukee lawyer, and who was Wisconsin's second attorney general, was the first colonel of the Second regiment. His successors were Edgar O'Connor, Lucius Fairchild and John Mansfield. All are dead. O'Connor was killed in battle and Fairchild and Mansfield were wounded at Gettysburg.

Charles S. Hamilton was the Third's first colonel, Thomas H. Ruger the second and William Towley the third.
Hamilton and Ruger became major generals and Howley a brevet brigadier. Hamilton and Ruger were West Pointers. All served in the regulars.
Ruger resides in New York, and is one of Wisconsin's three major generals
of the regular army. John P. Story
and George M. Marshall, both living, being the others.

Amasa Cobb was the Fifth's first
colonel and Thomas S. Allen the second. Both are dead. Cobb was a Wisconsin congressman eight years and chief justice of Nebraska. Allen was one of Wisconsin's best soldiers
and secretary of the war department.
The Sixth's first colonel was Lyman
Cutler, Edward S. Bragg the second,
Rufus R. Dawes the third and John A. Kellogg the fourth. All became generals. Gen. Bragg, eighty past, is the only one living.

Joseph Van der W. W. Robinson,
Mark Finicum and Hollon Richardson were colonels of the Seventh.
Finicum lives at Paris, Tenn., and Richardson at Seattle, Washington.

R. C. Murphy, Geo. V. Robbins, John W. Jefferson and W. B. Britton were colonels of the Eighth. Britton is a resident of Janesville. The others are dead.

Frederick Salomon, Charles E. Salomon and Arthur Jacoby were the Ninth's colonels. All are dead. The Salomons were brothers of Governor
Edward Salomon.

Brevetted a major general,
John Tenth had three colonels—A.
R. Chapin, John G. McMyon, and Duncan McKee. All are dead.

The Eleventh had but one colonel—Charles L. Harris, who was brevetted
a brigadier and resides at Omaha, Neb.

The Twelfth had George E. Bryant,
recently dead, and James K. Proudfit, who lives in Kansas City. Both were brevetted brigadiers.

The Thirteenth had three colonels,
Maurice Maloney, a captain of regulars, William P. Lyon and A. H. Kimmel. Gen. Lyon was chief justice for many years, a member of the board of control and now resides in California,
past 50.

The Fourteenth's were Colonels David E. Wood, John Hancock and Lyman M. Ward. Wood died in 1892
and Hancock fifteen years ago. Gen.
Ward lives in Michigan, where he has been prominent in business and politics.

Hans C. Heg and Ole C. Johnson
were colonels of the Fifteenth, the Norwegian regiment. Heg was killed in battle and Johnson died twenty years ago.

Benjamin Allen and Cassius Fair-
child were colonels of the Sixteenth.
Both are dead.

John L. Doran and A. G. Malloy led the Seventeenth. Doran died long ago and Gen. Malloy lives in Texas.

Colonels J. S. Alban, Gabriel Bouck,
and Charles H. Jackson were of the Eighteenth. Alban was killed at Shiloh. Bouck died two years ago and Jackson several years ago.

Horace T. Saunders, a former state senator from Racine, and Samuel K.
Vaughan, of Portage, were colonels
of the Nineteenth. Both are dead.

Colonels Bertine Pinkney, a state
senator from Fond du Lac, and Henry Bertram, of Dodge county, both dead, commanded the Twentieth. Bertram commanded a brigade most of the time he was in the service.

Benjamin J. Sweet and Harrison C.
Hobart were colonels of the Twenty-first. Both had served in the state senate, both served in other regiments
before going to the twenty-first; both became brigadiers; both were from Calumet county. Gen. Sweet died
thirty years ago and General Hobart
five years ago.

William L. Utley, of Racine, a former state senator, and adjutant general, was the Twenty-second's first colonel, and Edward Bloodgood the second. General Utley died some years ago. Colonel Bloodgood resides in Milwaukee. He served in the regular army after the war, reaching the rank of captain.

The late Judge Joshua J. Cuyper, of Portage, was the only colonel the Twenty-third had. Dead.

The Twenty-fourth had Colonels
Charles H. Larrabee, a former circuit judge and congressman from Dodge county, Theo. West and Arthur MacArthur, though the latter did not muster as such. He is now the ranking officer of the U. S. army. The others are dead.

Milton Montgomery, of Sparta, was the only colonel the Twenty-fifth had.

Cinders, which had not been effectually extinguished where they were loaded, set fire to a car here yesterday morning. The car was standing just below the belt line switch and Engine Dispatcher, John Lee, and Yardmaster David Griffin, hurried thither with an engine, towed the burning rolling stock into the yards and under the water tank, where the blaze was put out. The fourth switch-engine was put in service again today, being manned by Engineer J.
W. Coen and Fireman Garry.

Engineer Williams was on switch-

Madison Paper Publishes Dispatch
From Chicago Relative to the Janesville-Madison Line.

In the issue of the State Journal of Madison on Saturday last the following dispatch relative to the Janesville-
Madison interurban company is printed.
The dispatch refers directly to Mr. Clough as the financial backer of the proposition and then the Madison
paper states below, in a local item,
that the road referred to is the one which Mr. Montgomery is to build from Madison. This S. Nolan, who is
Mr. Clough's personal representative in Janesville, is in Madison today on court matters and could not be reached.
If the Chicago dispatch is to be credited Mr. Clough not Mr. Montgomery is to build the road. The dispatch is as follows:

"Chicago, Ill., April 13.—An order
for some $12,000 to $14,000 worth of tools and grading machinery has been placed with the Contractors' Supply company. Old Colony building, in this city, to be used in the construction of an interurban railway between Janesville and Madison, Wis. H. H. Clough
of Elmhurst, Ill., who built the Beloit
electric line is understood to be back of the project. Construction is to be under the supervision of the Smith
company of Milwaukee of which C.
Smith is the head. The order for the tools and the grading machinery was given within the past week, and shipment is to be made as soon as possible. It is said the electric line between Janesville will be built at once."

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, April 15, 1867.—A visit to our railroad depots convinced us that the present season is to be a lively one so far as travel is concerned. Indeed the season has already commenced and crowds are seen every day, taking their departure on the great thoroughfares that center here. Mr. Beetle informs us that over $1,500 was taken for tickets last week.

A New Catholic Church.—We understand that Father Doyle has just purchased eleven lots on East Milwaukee street upon which he proposes to erect a large and commodious church for the convenience of the members of the Catholic society residing on this side of the river. The ground secured embraces all of block ten, except the lot whereon Hope Chapel now stands, and it is eligibly situated for the object and uses for which it is intended. The new edifice will probably be commenced the coming fall.

A Discussion Wild Fists—On Saturday last two professional gentlemen of this city met in Britton & Harrison's furniture store where a war of words soon ended in a discussion of fists. One, a disciple of Blackstone, "sassed" the party of the second part, who is a follower of Escalaphus, calling him a liar and other pet names, with divers and sundry profane and unpleasant adjectives prefixed thereto, whereon the medicine man let go his "right flipper" on the cheek of the attorney aforesaid, and settled his coffee for the time being. At this interesting stage of the proceedings, bystanders interfered and the flow of bad blood was stopped, and his friends Britton & Harrison would have had a cheap invoice of hair for upholstering purposes not down in any of their bills. We understand that the law threatens to take the law on Medicine or else "doctor" him when they again do meet on the streets upon rough and tumble principles. When it comes off may we be there to see and make a note of it.

We understand the fracas originated about a culled pussen.

Before The Footlights.

Myers Theatre Monday, April 15.—The minstrel show last night was a successful performance and was greeted by a large house. Good singing of solo, quartet and chorus characterized the program. John Hill rendered an old favorite, "Asleep in the Deep," to the delight of everyone. Mr. Hill has a splendid deep, resonant voice. Not less popular with the crowd was Edward Frye, in the Zulu travesty, "A Dream of Dahomey."

Leroy Bland deserves special mention in his Indian characterization of Big Chief and Nola exhibiting the truly romantic and passionate of the noble Redman.

John Pamplin is a very prince of jugglers and introduced several new features, that amazed the audience.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE

The national peace conference, soon to be held, is exciting much interest in all parts of the world. The Staats Zeitung of New York has arranged for a love feast at the Manhattan club in honor of Mr. Tower, the American ambassador at Berlin. It will furnish an opportunity to say some nice things about Germany.

One of the speakers is Melvin E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, and advance copies of his address in both German and English, has been sent out in advance to the press of the country.

Mr. Stone will discuss the attitude of the German nation at the time of the capture of Manila. It will be remembered that much criticism was offered at the time, because of the presence of the German fleet and Admiral Diederichs, the commander, was censured for being too officious. Mr. Stone will say in part:

"The story of the affair at Manila has been told in various ways, but never completely accurately, or officially. The truth is this: On May 1st, 1898, Admiral Dewey attacked and destroyed the Spanish fleet.

"At that time there were a large number of German merchants in business in the city of Manila. There was a great deal of confusion there, and these merchants were naturally apprehensive as to their lives and property. Prince Henry of Prussia was at Hongkong, and a delegation went to him and urged that some German vessels should be sent to the Philippines to safeguard the German property there.

"This request Prince Henry cabled at once to Berlin. At that moment, and indeed for many months after, there was no popular sentiment in the United States in favor of permanently holding the Philippines or making them colonial possessions of this country.

"Indeed, one who had full authority to speak for the American government assured the authorities at Berlin that the war must not be construed into a contest for territorial aggrandizement, and asked why Germany would not take the islands. This was taken as an official communication. He also communicated this suggestion to the state department at Washington where it was not favorably received.

"The German government were not informed as to the feeling at Washington, and for the moment accepted the suggestion as expressive of the American point of view. They were very uncertain, however, as to their desires in the matter.

"The German merchants at Manila were very urgent that the United States should assume and maintain sovereignty in the islands, and the Berlin authorities rather favored this view.

"It was with the suggestion from this American authority before them that on May 11th, Admiral Diederichs was instructed to go from Hongkong to Manila. The English sent a like fleet under Capt. Sir Edward Chester.

"Admiral Dewey knew nothing of what had been going on at Berlin. Admiral Diederichs had been led to believe that the United States did not want the Philippines and would be very glad indeed if Germany would take them off her hands. These two different points of view inevitably found expression in the actions of the two admirals. If Diederichs seemed at all officious his justification lies in the fact that his government had, through no fault of its own, been misled.

"It is also true that for motives of their own certain American and foreign newspapers greatly exaggerated the episode, charging Diederichs with many things of which he was not guilty, and crediting the English officers with a degree of friendship for which there was no warrant.

"The German people are complimented for the friendly spirit exhibited and for the neutrality displayed under trying circumstances and adverse criticism. Thus the way is being prepared for the peace conference. It is a move in the right direction and will result in permanent good.

THE ERRATIC STEAD

W. T. Stead of London, the Hearst of English journalism, is barnstorming the country in the interests of an international peace lobby of which he is the father. He wants $100,000 to exploit his program and has but little patience with audiences who do not respond cheerfully to his demands.

Mr. Stead is an eloquent and magnetic speaker and when he appeared before an audience of Methodist preachers in a New York conference, the other day, they applauded with a rousing "Amen." The speaker acknowledged the ovation by saying

"Amen! Oh, nobody cares a damn for an amen unless it leads to your doing something." The Chicago Chronicle in commenting says:

"The remainder of the meeting was exceedingly pleasant and at the close of Mr. Stead's speech he was given a regular ovation, notwithstanding his profanity. The scriptures, it is true, do not class the word 'damn' or the word 'hell' as profanity, but the church and even the world do. One of the finest things in the 'Pinafore' opera is the amazement with which the crew of the ship heard the captain use the word 'damn.'

"If one of these preachers were to say in his pulpit on Sunday that nobody cared a damn about the Sunday closing law, for instance, the congregation would probably not allow him to finish his sermon. At least that would have been the result twenty-five years ago. After the recent experience of the ministers themselves with Stead it is not so certain that it would attract any notice.

"To an ordinary, worldly-minded, secular newspaper this nonchalance with which the Methodist divines permitted and encouraged Stead to use undignified and profane language in addressing them appears to argue a singular lack of self-respect. It was accounted for, however, by Stead himself afterward in language which the Chronicle would shudder to use at first hand, as follows:

"In all my visits to various parts of the world, I have found no one who thought the Christian church was a force in the world today. You speak to the great men of Europe and ask their opinion of its power and they shrug their shoulders and tell you that the Christian church has been allowed to go to the devil."

This is the man who is attempting to inaugurate a great movement in the interests of international peace, and he expects to do it by ignoring and slandering the Christian church. He may be a great journalist, but he has certainly much to learn about the forces which make for peace and righteousness.

The legislature of Pennsylvania has voted to put a tax of three cents a ton on anthracite coal, and the question is being discussed as to whether the state has a right to assess other states on a product which it controls. The three-cent tax amounts to two million dollars on the 66,000,000 tons mined, and the coal trust which makes prices for a year in advance, will see to it that the consumer pays the freight.

The question of a United States senator will doubtless be settled in caucus at Madison tonight. From the present outlook it seems to be Esch against the field. Mr. Stephenson is making his last desperate fight with chances against him. The old gentleman is in bad odor in the ranks of his oldtime associates, and the colts with which he has been training of late, seem a trifle unruly.

The disagreement of the Thaw jury was expected, and it is doubtful if a second trial will result in a verdict. The country will have a rest for six months, and that is worth something.

MRS. SHEA SENT TO MERCY HOSPITAL THIS AFTERNOON

Woman Who Has Been at Police Station Since Last Friday Is in Bad Shape.

Mrs. Mary Shea, who was picked up last Friday by the police, was sent to the Mercy Hospital this afternoon after having received medical treatment at the police station since Friday. Her condition is very critical, and as she is a paroled patient from Mendota it is probable she will be returned there when able to travel.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

A republican club of Kansas City is raising a fund of $100,000 to secure the republican national convention of 1908 for that city.

After a lapse of ten years Delaware voters will qualify without being forced to pay the registration fee of $1 on May 4. This is an accommodation with an act passed by the recent legislature.

John W. Cummings, a prominent lawyer of Fall River, is mentioned as a possible candidate for the democratic nomination for Governor of Massachusetts.

Ten of the 16 republican congressmen from Ohio are said to favor Taft for the presidential endorsement as against Foraker. Three members favor the senator, while the other three are non-committal.

Alabama has five former governors still living. They are Rufus W. Cobb, Thomas G. Jones, William C. Oates, Joseph F. Johnson and William D. Jelks.

Friends of Governor Stokes of New Jersey would like to see him selected as the republican vice-presidential candidate. They think he would add strength to a ticket headed by either Fairbanks, Taft or Cannon.

John W. Trekes, commissioner of internal revenue, has made it known that he will not accept the republican nomination for governor of Kentucky. Those now mentioned for the nomination are ex-Governor William O. Bradley, Augustus B. Wilson of Louisville, and E. T. Franks, collector of internal revenue of one of the districts.

The proposition to accept $750,000 from Andrew Carnegie for a library was voted down by the citizens of Detroit at the recent election.

Gerrit J. Diekmann, the republican candidate for William Alden Smith's seat in the House of Representatives, has long been prominent in Michigan politics. He served four terms in the state legislature and has been chairman of the republican state committee since 1900.

Governor Hoch, of Kansas, has accepted a number of assignments from a lecture bureau for this summer and will receive as high as $150 a night, the season's profits figuring close to $12,000.

Frank O. Briggs, the new senator from New Jersey, is an enthusiastic athlete, and, although 53 years old, still indulges in his favorite pastimes of wrestling and boxing.

William J. Bryan plans to spend the last half of April in New England. Beginning his speechmaking in Connecticut April 18 he will follow with a tour of Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

Senator Shelby M. Culom of Illinois and Nathaniel W. Voorhees, father of ex-Governor Foster M. Voorhees of New Jersey, are said to be the only surviving members of the national convention of 1860, which nominated Lincoln for the presidency.

President Amador of the little republic of Panama will visit the United States in December next on his return from a contemplated vacation of several months in Europe. He will spend some days in Washington, to enable him to return the visit paid him by President Roosevelt last fall.

A primary election will be held in the First Kansas district this week to choose a candidate to succeed United States Senator Charles Curtis. Of the five candidates in the field it is generally conceded that D. Anthony, Jr., of Leavenworth, a son of the late Col. D. R. Anthony, and a nephew of Susan B. Anthony, will be chosen. The election is set for May 23.

A movement has been started in Ohio to boom Justice Harmon of Cincinnati for the presidency on the democratic ticket to oppose Bryan. Those behind the movement claim that Bryan's speech advocating government ownership of railroads has caused many democrats to desert him. Mr. Harmon was attorney general in President Cleveland's cabinet and was a presidential candidate before the convention that nominated Parker.

The Kentucky republican state convention, which is to be held in June, is expected to have an important bearing upon the presidential nomination next year, inasmuch as there is a strong tendency among leading republicans to endorse Secretary Taft for the republican nomination. As this will be the first state convention to start the presidential ball, its endorsement will play a great part in political affairs.

Governor Franz recently visited Washington to persuade some of the national party leaders to take the stump for the republicans in Oklahoma this summer. It is possible that Secretary of War Taft may visit the new state early in June to fire the opening gun of the republican campaign. He has given a provisional acceptance of the invitation and there is little doubt that the arrangement will be made.

Edmund W. Pettus of Alabama, the oldest member of the United States senate, has just been chosen for another term. When that term expires Senator Pettus will be 94 years of age. He is now 86, hale and hearty, and always attends to his official duties in Washington. He was first elected from Alabama ten years ago, and was re-elected in 1903. His third term will begin in 1909. The Senator chews tobacco, drinks liquor moderately, loves flowers, carries a red bandanna and enjoys poker.

CHRIST IS TRULY
GOOD SHEPHERD OF
THE HUMAN FAMILY

Rev. W. P. Christy Delivered Sermon on Real Meaning of Savior's Words to His Flock.

In his sermon at the English Lutheran church yesterday morning, Rev. W. P. Christy explained the real and full meaning of Christ's statement that He was the shepherd of the human race, taking John 10:11-16 for the text. He said in part as follows:

"This gospel portrays Christ's true relation to the world, and the world's relation to Christ. The intimate interest of the great head of the church in His most lowly follower is pictured in parabolic figure as the Master was wont to do when He would crystallize a great truth for the comprehension and comfort of men in all ages. In this figure He sets forth His character, work, office and relation to His people in a manner that has deeply affected the Christian heart in all ages, and it is universally admitted to be one of the most beautiful, as it is one of the most familiar images in all the holy scriptures.

"Shepherd" an Honored Title
"The title of shepherd is one of great antiquity and one of great honor. The first martyr was a shepherd. All the patriarchs were shepherds. Moses, the sublimist historian and lawgiver of the world, was a shepherd. David, the poet-king, the founder of the Hebrew monarchy, the central figure in the history of the sacred people, was a keeper of his father's flocks. The Almighty Himself does not hesitate to accept and appropriate the title of shepherd. 'For thus saith the Lord God, Behold I, even I, will both search my sheep and seek them out.'—Ez. 34:11-16.

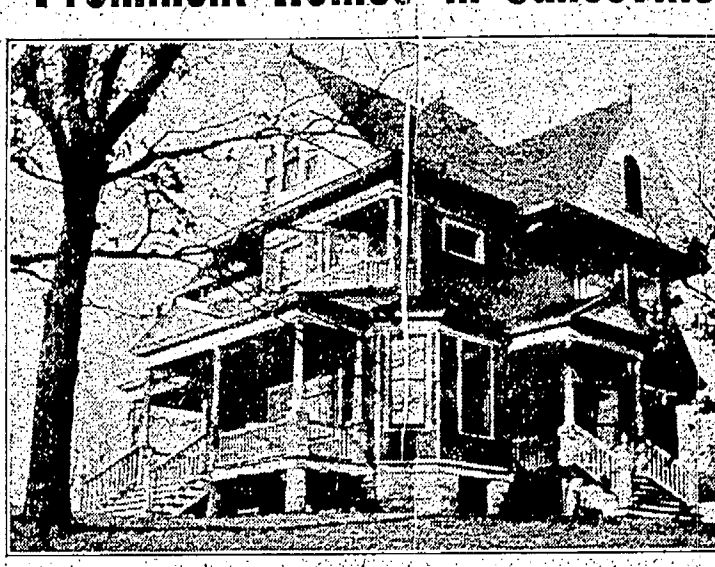

"It is a title of most intimate connection, familiarity and sympathy. Western civilization preoccupied with its great modern industries knows very little about shepherds, and consequently the description is more intelligible to the oriental mind, so familiar with pastoral life. The shepherd lives with his flock. He becomes as familiar to them as one of themselves. He knows them by name, their peculiarities and individual traits. He is a guide to the flock. They know his voice and follow him implicitly. He ministers to their several wants and necessities with paternal care. He is continually incurring personal risks and inconveniences for them.

Sheep Dearer Than Life
"So Christ, as the Good Shepherd, manifests all these characteristics in His care of those committed to Him. Like another and more glorious David, He stands out against the bear and the lion that His flock may live. The Good Shepherd gives his life for the sheep. The hireling fleeth when he seeth the wolf coming—but the Shepherd of souls does not care for wages. With equal clearness does the parable set forth our relation to Christ—'We are the people of His pasture and the sheep of His hand.'

Sheep Needs Protection
"A sheep is an ignorant and defenseless creature by nature. It is quite incapable of self-government, and perishes without some one to look after it and provide for it. It has many enemies; it is defenseless and must have a keeper. Apply this as you will to the affairs and conditions of the human race; you cannot deny the fact that the figure of the Good Shepherd is fitting. He is in almost every age. When he saw the multitude, He was moved with compassion of them, because they fainted and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd.

Knowing God Spiritually
"But His word has gone forth. Many have become familiar with that verse: 'I am known of mine.' They know Him by their own experiences of His goodness. Through His Holy Spirit the Shepherd is constantly gathering

His scattered sheep. The voice of Jesus is His word, the hearing of that voice is not the hearing of the outward ear, but the hearing of the heart and soul. There is a vast difference between knowing Christ and having very complete intellectual information concerning Him. Religion is a thing of the soul; not of the intellect. All sheep do not know His voice nor have all heard His call. The gathering process still continues—through human instrumentalities of divine appointment. And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold. Them, also, I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold and one shepherd."

"WHOLE FAMILY"

A while ago a lady consulted Dr. Richards about teeth.

He made her a full upper and lower set.

Some time later she came in with two grown and married daughters.

Said she, "Dr. Richards, you did such satisfactory work in my mouth that I have brought my two daughters to you."

"All their teeth are bad and I am giving them each a present of a new set of teeth, just as well as you did me it will be all O. K."

Well, Dr. Richards made them all new teeth.

They are simply delighted, as President Roosevelt is quoted as expressing himself.

Since then they have sent him their friends also.

IN BATTLE WITH FOES OF GLASS

FRANK MALONE RIDDLED HOME WITH BULLETS YESTERDAY.

HAD BEAD ON THE SHERIFF

But Was Persuaded Not to Shoot—Suffering from Delirium Resulting from Alcoholism and Pneumonia.

Sheriff Ira U. Fisher gazed up a stairway into the muzzle of a cocked revolver, as he entered the farmhouse on the Frank Malone premises near the four-mile bridge yesterday afternoon. The owner, haunted by the dread specters of a delirium resulting from pneumonia and a too free indulgence in intoxicating liquor, had driven the tenants, Mr. and Mrs. Arner and daughter, from the house at midnight Saturday and had threatened to shoot the first person who should re-cross the threshold. Meantime he had opened fire on the horde of demons evoked by his disordered fancy and had kept it up intermittently throughout the early Sabbath morning and forenoon. The cupboards and other furniture and the floors and walls were riddled with bullets and a quantity of empty shells were strewn about the rooms. Although the place looked as if it might just be recovering from a state of siege, the window panes were shot.

Soothing Words Successful.

Mr. Arner begged the sheriff not to try to enter the house except by stealth, but the officer opened the front door and walked boldly in. He answered Malone's peremptory challenge with soothing words, assuring the victim of brain-storm that he was a friend and no enemy. The man at the top of the stairway considered the peace overtures doubtfully for a time, but presently, yielding to persuasion, lowered the gun and came down. "You're sick, Frank, though you don't know it," said the sheriff, "and Rash Nelson and myself want you to come to town with us and see a doctor."

A Battle with "Glass-Fronts"

Malone protested that there was nothing the matter with him physically, except a sore throat, but agreed to make the trip to Janesville. If Sheriff Fisher would go back to one of the rooms, destroy the last of the army of "glass-fronts" which he had been fighting single-handed for many hours, and recover his shotgun. Thirty of these demons with human heads and bodies of glass had come from Janesville to get him and the band had been reinforced by another fearful squadron from the north. The sheriff humored the patient and after securing the weapon assured him that he had pitched the last of the crystalline warriors out of the window. Upon arrival here Malone was taken to the Mercy hospital where Dr. Charles Sutherland attended him. It is believed that with the proper care his chances for complete recovery are excellent. Malone is about forty years of age.

OLD COUNCIL WILL ADJOURN SINE DIE

At the Conclusion of Its Business This Evening—New Administration to Organize Thursday.

Tonight the old city council will hold its last meeting and Mayor-Elect Heddles will call the new council together for organization Thursday evening. Notices to this effect will be served on the aldermen tomorrow. Considerable unfinished business will probably be disposed of this evening. The project of a dock at the foot of North Fifth street, the protest against the building of a sewer on Lincoln street, the petition against the macadamizing of Madison street, and several other matters remain to be attended to. Several of the departments will make their monthly reports and the bonds and oaths of the incoming officers will have to be passed upon before the 1907 council adjourns sine die.

NARROWLY ESCAPED DEATH AT MEMPHIS

David K. Jeffris Thrown from Carriage by Collision with Wagon—About on Cane.

David K. Jeffris was home from Chicago Saturday and Sunday and was just able to be about with a cane, having been injured in an accident at Memphis, Tenn., a week ago. He had been out riding with a friend and on the return home the latter speeded up his horse. Unable to suddenly stop the animal, their rig collided with a team and wagon, which suddenly emerged from a cross street and took the wrong side of the road. Both Mr. Jeffris and his friend were thrown out and Mr. Jeffris sustained slight fractures of two ribs and a painful but inconsequential injury to his spine. He was confined to his friend's home for a few days and then went to Chicago. When he arrived Friday he immediately went to bed, but is again out of doors and expects to fully recover. The wagon which figured in the accident contained two colored men, both of whom are still in a Memphis hospital.

GEO. TALLMAN WINS HIS DAMAGE SUIT

Against the St. Paul Railroad and W. J. Lathers Will Recover from La Prairie Insurance Co.

Judge Grimm handed down two decisions today, both finding for the plaintiffs and both sustaining the judgments in the lower courts from which the cases were appealed. Former Justice of the Peace Jesse Earle is sustained in the case of George K. Tallman vs. the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co. and the plaintiff will recover $89.35 as indemnity for the loss in the company's local baggage room on the night of June 24, 1906. Justice Cornelius Buckley of Beloit is sustained in his decision that the Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of La Prairie must indemnify W. J. Lathers for the loss of a horse loaned to a neighbor named Miller and burned so badly in a fire which destroyed the latter's barn that it afterward died. No new cases were taken up in court this afternoon but tomorrow the claim of Archie Reid of a note for $5,000 on which there was a balance of $4,043.87 outstanding against the estate of the late George Van Etta, will be argued. The other creditors took an appeal from the findings of the county court.

TEUBERT'S LOST WATCH RECOVERED

In a Tussel in Which the City Marshal Took a Part This Afternoon.

During a colloquy at Smith's hotel this morning a stranger from Montana helped himself to a gold watch which Landlord Albert Teubert was carrying. The latter did not miss the property until sometime later when the stranger had departed. This afternoon Mr. Teubert and a companion came upon the fellow at the railroad tracks not far from the police station. A tussle ensued and the gentleman from Montana had nearly gotten into the clear when City Marshal Appleby appeared on the scene with chains and irons and took him in charge. Montana strenuously denied taking the property but a search brought to light the stolen property. He will probably be taken into court tomorrow morning.

OBITUARY.

Martin Dunn

The funeral of the late Martin Dunn will be held from St. Patrick's church Tuesday morning at nine o'clock. Interment will be in Mount Olivet cemetery. The deceased's son, Charles Dunn, will not be here for the obsequies, it having been impossible to locate him. He is traveling through the Carolinas in the interest of a publishing company.

August Erdner

Mrs. H. C. Dreyer is mourning the death of her father, August Erdner of Beloit. The demise was sudden, being the result of an attack of pneumonia. Mr. Erdner was fifty-eight years of age and is survived by a wife and four children. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

Grace Young Pool

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Grace Young Pool, wife of Marvin B. Pool, a former resident of Janesville in Chicago. Marvin Pool will be remembered by many Janesville people left Janesville many years ago and for some time past has been manager and interested in the firm of Butler Bros., Chicago. Mrs. Pool was formerly Miss Grace Young of Clinton, Iowa, and has visited here.

$100 FINE PAID BY LYMAN BUTLER

FOR USING AS A TARGET FOR RIFLE PRACTICE.

RAILROAD SIGNAL LIGHTS

Young Man's Perceptions Were Blunted by Disease in Childhood and Court Made Penalty Light

Lyman Butler shot at the C. & N. W. Ry. Co.'s signal lights near Shople, March 31st, on a dare from two sixteen-year-old companions. The other boys fired at the same target, but they appear to have given Butler all the credit for hitting the mark six times with his 22 calibre rifle. In his childhood this lad was afflicted with that terrible malady, the rickets, and though he is faithful and obedient, his mental faculties are somewhat clouded and he is unable to clearly foresee consequences beyond the present moment. Hence it is quite certain that, though he knew he was in mischief, he did not appreciate the gravity of his offense.

Resisted the Officer.

He is as strong physically as a young ox. When Sheriff Fisher visited the Walter Fern farm on which he works last Saturday he found the young man carting wood with a wheelbarrow. After the officer had explained the nature of his mission, Wilbur insisted that he could go nowhere without the consent of Mr. Fern, who was away at the time, and that anyway he would have to finish his job at the woodpile. "But I am the sheriff and you will have to come with me," said the officer. The boy stolidly kept on piling wood. As the officer laid hands on him he fought like a wildman, kicking and attempting to bite whenever opportunity offered. He was soon subdued without unnecessary violence and brought to Janesville.

Fined $100 and Costs.

In municipal court this morning he pleaded guilty to the charge and would offer no excuses when Judge Fifield asked him if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced. The court stated its conviction that the deprecation had not been committed with vicious motives or intent and stipulated a fine of $100 and costs amounting to $4.35 with the alternative of 90 days in jail. Butler's father and several of his friends were present in the court room and they paid the fine and costs for him.

The Country Town Can Be Made the Very Best Place to Live in the United States.

(Copyright, by Alfred C. Clark.)

A preacher, who was a crank on doctrine, wearied his congregation by constantly harping on baptism. A brother that longed for a rest handed him a text he thought safe. "The way of the transgressor is hard."

"Friends," said the preacher, "there are three things suggested by this scripture. First, the transgressor. Second, his conversion. Third, his baptism. We will pass over the first two, and come to the third."

Many reasons why people should trade at home rather than send their money away have been given, but suppose we pass them all by and come at once to the one vital reason:

It is the right thing to do.

For, after all the fundamental question in every transaction is whether it is right or wrong. Not will I save money, but is it just? Not is it more convenient, but is it fair? Not whether is it good business, but whether it is good morals?

For you and I know, and all the world is coming to know, that not one dollar is ever saved or made by unfair means that does not curse the possessor. And a man may as dishonest in saving money as in getting it.

It is right to spend our money with the home town and wrong to send it away because we are under obligations to the home town, but not to the mail order house.

Financial Obligations.

In the first place the country is under financial obligations to the town. Of course the town is also indebted to the country, but the town cannot help but pay its debt, its very existence does that. Hence we are merely discussing the country side of the obligation.

The country town with all its faults is the best governed, most enlightened, most moral, and happiest spot in American civilization. It is a good safe place. Not too swift, nor yet too slow. In touch with the current of progress, but not racing with greed. The place from which come nearly all the great business men, lawyers, scholars, preachers, physicians. The place where men are neighborly and helpful.

This town, my farmer friend, is yours. But the city belongs to the town. The robber apparently has five or six hours' start of a posse, mounted upon the fastest horses to be had, which left Malta immediately upon receipt of word of the hold-up. Some member of "Kid" Curry's gang of train robbers and horse thieves is suspected of the holdup.

SHOT TO DEATH BY BURGLAR.

Wealthy Real Estate Dealer of New York Murdered.

New York, April 15.—George Shambacher, a wealthy real estate dealer 56 years of age, was shot and mortally wounded while in the dining room of his home in East Forty-fourth street early Sunday. His family believe that a burglar surprised by Shambacher, shot him.

Mrs. Shambacher told the police that she and a son, Herman, were awakened by a pistol shot, and they hurried to the dining room in time to see Shambacher stagger across the floor and fall. The wounded man cried out: "I've been shot," and pointed to an open window. He then lapsed into unconsciousness and within a few hours died.

BEAUTIFUL WOMAN A SUICIDE.

Mrs. Norris, of Denver, Kills Herself in Berea, O.

Berea, O., April 15.—Mrs. Daisy Campbell Norris, of Denver, Col., shot and killed herself at the home of her brother, Myron A. Campbell, Sunday. She was the wife of William Norris, a Denver attorney.

Mrs. Norris was known as one of the most beautiful women that ever lived in Berea. She was the daughter of the late Dr. A. J. Campbell. Domestic trouble and illness induced melancholia, which, it is thought, caused her to take her life.

Washington, April 15.—Hundreds of delegates from every section of the country have arrived in Washington for the annual convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which convenes at Continental Memorial hall in this city Monday.

Mrs. Donald McLean, the president general, has established headquarters and is welcoming the incoming delegates. Delegates will be present from every state in the union and from foreign countries.

Indians Will Protest.

Aberdeen, Wash., April 15.—Three representative Quinault Indians have left the reservation for Washington to protest to President Roosevelt against the plan of including the Quinault reservation in the Olympia forest reserve. Reports have been current for some time that it is proposed by the government to place the reservation in a forest reserve, and there is opposition to this among members of the tribe.

"Cattle King" Durbin Dies.

Denver, Col., April 15.—John H. Durbin, who made millions in mining and cattle raising, died here Sunday of pneumonia. He was 67 years of age. Mr. Durbin was known as the "cattle king" of the Rocky mountain range. At one time he owned the famous Home Stake mine of Deadwood, S. D.

TAFT LANDS AT SAN JUAN

SECRETARY OF WAR CORDIALLY RECEIVED BY PORTO RICANS.

Met by Gov. Beekman Winthrop and Secretary Post and Escorted to the Palace.

San Juan, Porto Rico, April 15.—Secretary of War Taft and his party arrived at noon Sunday on the government yacht, Mayflower. Gov. Beekman Winthrop and the secretary of Porto Rico, Regis Post, went aboard to greet the secretary.

The yacht was taken to the naval station landing, where it was met by the naval officers here.

After formal exercises, Secretary Taft was escorted by a battalion of marines to the city entrance, where Lieut. Col. Bailey, of the Porto Rican regiment, and staff awaited him. Under escort of the regiment the secretary, who was in a carriage with Gov. Winthrop, was driven to the palace, where, from the balcony, he reviewed the troops. After the review an informal reception was held and prominent citizens called on the secretary.

Mr. Taft is the sixth cabinet officer to visit the island since it was occupied by the Americans. Messrs. Alger, Payne, Moody, Root and Metcalf preceded him.

The announcement that the Mayflower had been sighted was the signal for the gathering of thousands and soon the streets surrounding the naval station were filled with eager spectators. Secretary Taft's reception by the Porto Ricans was cordial.

ROBS A STAGE OF $28,000.

Bold Bandit in Montana Escapes with Rich Booty.

Great Falls, Mont., April 15.—The stage running between Malta and Zortman was held up Saturday night by a lone bandit, according to a telephone message received late Sunday night, and a sum estimated at about $28,000 is said to have been secured. The message gave no details of the daring robbery other than that it occurred just north of Zortman and the stage was entering the Little Rockies with a consignment of money to pay the wages of the miners at the Zortman mines.

The robber apparently has five or six hours' start of a posse, mounted upon the fastest horses to be had, which left Malta immediately upon receipt of word of the hold-up. Some member of "Kid" Curry's gang of train robbers and horse thieves is suspected of the holdup.

WAR COLONELS OF STATE TROOPS

He lost an arm; died at Omaha a few years ago.

W. H. Jacobs and Fred C. Winkler were colonels of the Twenty-sixth, a German regiment. General Winkler commanded a brigade most of the time the last years of the war, and is still one of Milwaukee's good citizens.

Conrad Krez was the Twenty-seventh's only colonel. He was city attorney, assemblyman and collector of customs, dying twelve years ago.

Dr. J. M. Lewis and E. B. Gray were colonels of the Twenty-eighth. Both are dead. Colonel Gray was an educator of distinction and had large experience with the Grand Army, and did valuable service.

Charles R. Gill, state senator, attorney general and U. S. pension commissioner, William A. Greene and Bradford Hancock, were colonels of the Twenty-ninth. All are dead.

Daniel J. Dill was colonel of the Thirtieth. He is a resident of Prescott, where he has resided more than fifty years.

Isaac E. Messmore, T. H. West and Geo. D. Rogers were colonels of the Thirty-first. Gen. West was U. S. marshal for the eastern district under President Cleveland. He died ten years ago. Col. Rogers, the only survivor, resides at Minneapolis.

James H. Howe, a former attorney general, and C. H. De Groat, were colonels of the Thirty-second. General De Groat died three years ago and Colonel Howe twenty years ago.

Jonathan B. Moore was the only colonel of the Thirty-third. Dead.

Fritz Anneke was the only colonel of the Thirty-fourth, made up of drafted men and dead.

Henry Orr and George H. Walther, of Milwaukee, were colonels of the Thirty-fifth. Dead.

The Thirty-sixth had for colonels Frank A. Haskell, John A. Savage, Harvey M. Brown and Clement E. Warner. Haskell and Savage were killed in battle. Warner lost an arm and Brown was severely wounded. All dead but Warner, who resides in Dane county.

Gen. Sam. Hartman and John Green were colonels of the Thirty-seventh. Dead.

Gen. James Bindler and C. K. Pier were colonels of the Thirty-eighth. Dead.

E. L. Buttrick, a resident of Charleston, W. Va., was colonel of the Thirty-ninth. W. A. Ray of the Fortieth, George B. Godwin of the Forty-first, Ray and Godwin are dead.

Extra T. Sprague was colonel of the Forty-second. Amasa Cobb of the Forty-third, George G. Symes of the Forty-fourth, Henry F. Beltz of the forty-fifth, Fred S. Lovell of the Forty-sixth, Gen. George C. Giny of the Forty-seventh, all of whom are dead.

Gen. N. K. Fearsall and Henry Shears were colonels of the Forty-eighth. Dead.

General now Bishop, Samuel F. Fajlow, was colonel of the Forty-ninth. Col. John C. Clark, now a Lancaster lawyer, was colonel of the Fiftieth. Leonard Martin of the Fifty-first. He died soon after the war. W. C. Cobb, dead, was colonel of the Fifty-second. O. C. Johnson, Fifty-third, dead.

The colonels of the First Cavalry were Edward Daniels and Oscar H. La Grange. Daniels is dead. Gen. La Grange is governor of the Soldiers' Home near Los Angeles, California.

The colonels of the Second Cavalry were C. C. Washburn, ten years in congress, and one term governor, Thomas Stephens, and N. H. Dale. Dead.

Gov. W. A. Barstow and Thomas Derry were colonels of the Third Cavalry. Dead.

The Fourth Cavalry had six different colonels—Hubert E. Paine, S. A. Bean, F. A. Boardman, Joseph Bailey, Webster P. Moore, and Nelson F. Craigue. More and Craigue are living.

Only twenty of the 100 colonels of Wisconsin regiments are living. Of the 61,000 soldiers and sailors who responded from Wisconsin, it is safe to say that not to exceed 25,000 are living.

The old man with a scythe has been very busy.

Childish Rebellion.

I have a little friend five years old, that I call Buster. His mother had punished him, and some time after a friend of his mother was calling and said to Buster: "Are you not glad you have such a nice mother?" He replied promptly: "If you had a mother who whipped her children, as she whips me I don't believe you would think her nice."

Blaze in Noted London Church.

London, April 15.—The historic Camden church in Pockham Road, London, where Ruskin was a worshipper, was seriously damaged by fire Saturday night. The church, which was partly designed by Ruskin, was destroyed.

Fire at Baker University.

Topeka, Kan., April 15.—The Ripley building, one of the largest and most important structures at Baker University, Kan., was destroyed by fire early Sunday. The loss is estimated at $60,000. Insurance, $15,000.

Latest book is the most beautiful we ever issued.

Pictures in natural colors of 97 presents for the users of Arbuckle's ARIOSA Coffee. Will be sent free to any one who writes for it.

Do you realize what a great business Arbuckle's ARIOSA Coffee is? As many as 30,000 letters for presents are received here in a day. In a year we dispatched four million individual presents to our customers—presents that brought letters of thanks and appreciation in return.

Here is one from Mrs. De Jamette:

"I appreciate highly the beautiful presents sent me."

Easy.

"But do you think," said Manager Flasco, "that you can stand the onerous duties of the villain's role? You must remember that you have to be kicked from a third-story window, that in the fire scene the whistlers are burnt off your face, and in the final climax you are first beaten to a pulp and then thrown into a caldron of boiling oil." The applicant smiled. "All that will be child's play to me," he replied. "I once played with the Orangemen on St. Patrick's day."

Big Fire in Louisiana.

New Orleans, La., April 15.—Between 500 and 600 people were rendered homeless Sunday by a fire, which swept the town of Westwego, situated on the Mississippi river opposite New Orleans. In all 42 buildings, including a Presbyterian church, the town hall, the post office and a number of stores were destroyed.

Italian Fatally Shoots Three.

New York, April 15.—Policemen George M. Sechler and Alfred Sechler, and Charles Vincenzo were shot and mortally wounded Sunday by Salvatore Gavarnone in a running fight which began in a tenement in West Third street. Sechler died soon after he was shot.

Engineer Killed in Wreck.

Sullivan, O., April 15.—Sweeping at the rate of 70 miles an hour around a curve here, a west-bound passenger train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, was wrecked Sunday. Engineer H. M. Dampson was instantly killed. Three coaches left the track, but none of the passengers was hurt.

Explosion Kills Two Men.

Key West, Fla., April 15.—An explosion which occurred on the dredger George W. Allen, engaged in extensive work on the Florida East Coast railway at Key West Sunday caused the death of two Spaniards, and injured eight others. Four of the injured were badly scalded on the hands and face.

Covington Jury Disagrees.

Little Rock, Ark., April 15.—After being out for 36 hours, the jury in the case of former State Senator Covington, charged with accepting a bribe, reported a disagreement and was discharged. Covington was a former president of the state senate, and the trial has attracted wide attention.

George W. Goethals

Major George W. Goethals was born in New York state, 49 years ago, and entered the military academy at West Point as a cadet from his native state in 1876. When the Chinese troubles broke out in 1900, Goethals went over with the United States contingent to the allied troops, who marched on Peking to relieve the legations. In February, 1900, he was made a major. He was on duty at Newport, R. I., from August 1, 1900, until June 1, 1903, being in charge of the fortifications and the river and harbor improvements at this post. On June 1, 1903, he was assigned to special duty with the general staff headquarters at Washington. He has long been a member of the army board of fortifications and holds an important place in the First Division Army Corps.

RHEUMATISM WORSE FROM YEAR TO YEAR

The cause of Rheumatism is an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought on by indigestion, chronic constipation, weak kidneys and a general sluggish condition of the entire system. The refuse and waste matter of the body is not carried out as nature intends, but is left to ferment and sour and generate uric acid, which is absorbed into the blood. The first evidence of Rheumatism is usually little wandering pains in the muscles and joints, or a tender, sensitive place on the flesh. These are often so slight that nothing is thought of them and they pass away; but with each recurrence the trouble becomes more severe, and from slight wandering pains and excited nerves, Rheumatism grows to be a painful and almost constant trouble. The longer the poison remains in the blood the firmer hold the trouble gets on the system. Each day the acid deposit is increasing and the disease grows worse from year to year. After awhile the joints become coated with a corrosive substance, which seriously interferes with their working and movements and sometimes they become permanently stiff and useless. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by going down into the blood and attacking the disease at its head. It neutralizes the poisons and acids and dissolves the salts and irritating deposits, making the blood stream pure, fresh and healthy. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, and is therefore a safe remedy. When the blood has been purified by S. S. S., the pains and aches pass away, and the cure is permanent. THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

AUTHOR OF "THE COST OF THE DELIVERANCE" Etc.

"Probably," said in my usual tone, when she was calm enough to hear me. "So that's what you brood over?" "Yes," she sobbed. "I've hated you and myself. Why don't you tell me it isn't so? I'll believe it—I don't want to hear the truth. I know you don't love me, Harvey. But just say you don't love her."

"What kind of middle-aged maudlin moonshine is this, anyway?" said I. "Let's go back to Junior. We've passed the time of life when people can talk sentimentality without being ridiculous."

"That's true of me, Harvey," she said miserably, "but not of you. You don't look a day over 40—you're still a young man, while I—"

"She did not need to complete the sentence. I sat on the bed beside her and patted her vaguely. She took my hand and kissed it. And I said—I tried to say it gently, tenderly, sincerely: 'People who've been together, as you and I have, see each other always as at first, they say.'"

"She kissed my hand gratefully again. 'Forgive me for what I said,' she murmured. 'You know I didn't think it; really. I've got such a nasty disposition and I felt so down, and—that was the only thing I could find to throw at you.'"

"Please—please!" I protested. "Forgive isn't a word that I'd have the right to use to any one."

"But I must—"

"Now, I've known for years," I went on, "that you were in love with that other man when I asked you to marry me. I might have taunted you with it, might have told you how I've saved him from going to jail for passing worthless checks."

"This delighted her—this jealousy so long and so carefully hidden. Under cover of her delight I escaped from the witness stand. And the discovery that evening by Doc Woodruff that my son's ensnared had a husband living put her in high good humor. 'If he'd only come home,' said she, adding: 'Though, now I feel that he's perfectly safe with her.'"

"Yes—let them alone," I replied. "He has at least one kind of sense—a sense of honor. And I suspect and hope that he has at bottom common sense, too. Let him find her out for himself. Then he'll be done with her, and her kind, for good."

"I must marry him off as soon as possible," said Carlotta. "I'll look about for some nice, quiet young girl with character and looks and domestic tastes." She laughed a little bitterly. "You men can profit by experience and it ruins us women."

"Unjust," said I, "but injustice and stupidity are the ground plan of life."

"We had not long to wait. The lady, as soon as Junior reached the end of his cash, tried to open negotiations. Failing and becoming convinced that he had been cast off by his parents, she threw aside her mask. One straight look into her real countenance was enough for the boy. He fled shuddering; but not to me as I had expected. Instead, he got a place as a clerk in Chicago."

"Why not let him shift for himself for awhile?" suggested Woodruff, who couldn't have taken more trouble about the affair if the boy had been his own. "A man never knows whether his feet were made to stand on or walk with, unless he's been down to his uppers."

"I think the boy's got his grand mother in him," said I. "Let's give him a chance."

"He'll make a career for himself yet—like his father's," said Woodruff. That, with the sincerest enthusiasm. But instinctively I looked at him for signs of sarcasm. And then I wondered how many 'successful' men would, in the same circumstances, have had the same curiously significant instinct."

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Under a Crayon Portrait.

It was not less than a month before inauguration. Daily the papers gave probable selections for the high posts under the approaching administration; and, while many of them were attributed to my influence, Roebuck's son as ambassador to Russia was the only one I ever approved of. As payments for the services of the plutocracy they were unnecessary and foolishly lavish; as preparations for a renomination and reelection, the two guiding factors in every plan of a president-elect, they were preposterous. They were first steps toward an administration that would make Roebuck's triumph inevitable, in spite of his handicap of idealism."

I sent Woodruff west to find out what Burbank was doing about the places I had pledged—all of them less "honorable," but more lucrative offices which party workers covet. He returned with the news that, according to the best information he could get through his spies in Burbank's entourage, all our pledges would be broken; the 'Sayer-Burbank' machine was to be made over into a Goodrich-Burbank."

I saw that I could not much longer delay action. But I resolved to put it off until the very last minute, meanwhile trying to force Burbank to send for me. My cannonade upon Goodrich in 6,000 newspapers, great and small, throughout the west and south, had been reinforced by the bulk of the opposition press. I could not believe it was to be without influence upon the time Burbank, even though he knew who was back of the attack, and precisely how I was directing it. I was relying—as I afterward learned, not in vain—upon my faithful De Milt to bring to 'Cousin James' attention the outburst of public sentiment against his guide, philosopher, and friend, the Wall Street fetch-and-carry."

I had fixed on February 15 as the date on which I would telegraph a formal demand for an interview. On February 11, he surrendered—he wired, asking me to come. I took a chance, I wired back a polite request to be excused as I had urgent business in Chicago. And 24 hours later I passed within 30 miles of Wilmington on my way to Chicago with Carlotta—we were going to see Junior, hugely proud of himself and his $27 a week. At the Auditorium a telegram waited for Burbank. He hoped I would come as soon as I could; the matters he wished to discuss were most important. Toward noon of the third day thereafter we were greeting each other—he with an attempt at his old-time cordiality, I without concealment of at least the coldness I felt. But my manner apparently, and probably, escaped his notice. He was now blind and drunk with the incense that had been whirling about him in dense clouds for three months; he was incapable of doubting the bliss of any human being he was gracious to. He shut me in with him and began confiding the plans he and Goodrich had made—cabinet places, foreign posts, and so forth. His voice, lingering and luxuriating upon the titles—"my ambassador to his Britannic majesty," "my ambassador to the German emperor," and so on—amused and a little, but only a little, astonished me. I had always known that he was a thorough-and-through snob. For nearly an hour I watched his ingenious, childish delight in bathing himself in himself, the "wonderful fountain of all these honors." At last he finished; laid down his list, took off his nose-glasses. "Well, Harvey, what do you think?" he asked, and waited with sparkling eyes for my enthusiastic approval."

"I see Goodrich drove a hard bargain," said I. "Yet he came on his knees, if you had but realized it." Burbank's color mounted. "What do you mean, Sayer?" he inquired, the faint beginnings of the insulted god in his tone and manner. "You asked my opinion," I answered. "I'm giving it. I don't recall a single name that isn't obviously a Goodrich suggestion. Even the Roebuck appointment—"

"Sayer," he interrupted, in a forbearing tone, "I wish you would remind me so often of your prejudice against Senator Goodrich. It is unworthy of you. But for my pardon, my frankness—your prejudice would have driven him away, and with him a support he controls."

I showed my amusement. "Don't smile, Sayer," he protested, with some anger in his smooth, heavy voice. "You are not the only strong man in the party, and I venture to take advantage of our long friendship to speak plainly to you. I wish to see a united party. One of my reasons for sending for you was to tell you how greatly I am distressed and chagrined by the attacks on Senator Goodrich in our papers."

HEAVY EARTHQUAKE IN CITY OF MEXICO

PEOPLE ARE TERRIFIED BUT NO DEATHS RESULT.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS GO OUT.

House Walls and Pavements Are Cracked—Frightened Citizens Rush from Their Dwellings in Night Robes.

City of Mexico, April 15.—An earthquake lasting four and a half minutes startled this city Sunday night. The earth rocked in a long, swinging motion, terrifying the inhabitants but doing no great damage, so far as can be learned in the city.

Clocks stopped at 11:34 (Mexican time), which is 36 minutes slower than American time, and the perceptible motion of the earth ceased at 11:39.4. Telegraph wires were put out of commission and for a short time the city was in darkness, owing to the failure of the electric lights. One wall of the Associated Press office was cracked from floor to ceiling.

Asphalt Paving Cracked. The asphalt on a paved corner on Cinco de Mayo street, one of the principal business streets of the city, was cracked open for a distance of ten yards.

The shock is pronounced the heaviest here in years. People thronged the streets, many having fled from their houses and dwellings in their night robes.

No Deaths Reported. A rapid tour in cars over the business streets of the city revealed no damage beyond cracked walls, and small fissures in the pavements. At the police stations no deaths had been reported up to 12:40 a. m. A wall on San Santiago street collapsed, killing a number of horses and wounding five men.

No reports have yet come from the American colony, but it is not believed that serious damage was sustained there, although the houses, unlike those in the old section of the city, are not built to withstand earthquake shocks.

At the time of the first shock the cafes and theaters were filled and for a time a panic was feared, but owing to the peculiarly steady swing of the earth's movement the crowds left hurriedly but quietly.

WRECKERS DERAIL A TRAIN.

Three Men Killed in an Accident in Louisiana.

Alexandria, La., April 15.—Three men killed and one probably fatally injured is the result of what is believed to be the work of train wreckers at Cheneyville, 30 miles south-east of here on the Texas & Pacific railroad, early Sunday morning. A west-bound passenger train plunged into an open switch while running at a high rate of speed. The wreckage caught fire and the mail car, baggage and express car and two passenger coaches were burned.

Engineer John Covington and Fireman Michael Kass, of New Orleans, and an unidentified man were killed.

THE NEWS BOILED DOWN.

John W. Yerkes has resigned as commissioner of internal revenue.

Eight persons were burned to death near Gunter, Tex., by an explosion of gasoline.

Another earthquake shook terrified the people of Kingston, Jamaica, and did much damage.

William H. Buesking, a farmer near Fort Wayne, Ind., was blown to pieces by dynamite.

L. B. Hicks, the miner who was entombed 15 days near Bakersfield, eloped with the wife of a butcher of Lodi, Cal.

Morris Lippman, a wealthy and benevolent Hebrew of New York, was killed by falling from a window of his residence.

Mrs. Alexander D. Brown, a wealthy widow of Baltimore, announced her engagement to Charles Kaufman, her coachman, 32 years her junior.

Police of Winnipeg, Manitoba, raided the offices of the Canadian Stock Grain company and arrested every one in them on charges of running and frequenting a bucket shop.

CROWE DIES OF HIS WOUND.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 15.—Robert M. Crowe, a nephew of H. C. McElroy, president of the Union Trust company of this city, who shot himself in the abdomen while in a box watching a performance at a local theater last Wednesday afternoon, died in a hospital Sunday. Crowe was 23 years old and a member of a prominent family. The shooting, which almost caused a panic in the theater, is attributed to financial difficulties.

BREAKS ALGERIAS PACT.

Morocco Awards Contracts Directly to Private German Firm.

Paris, April 15.—The correspondent at Tangier of the Temps says the Moroccan foreign board has awarded a contract for a public drainage system at Tangier and a sea embankment to a German firm, which bid $180,000, although treating directly with a private firm in the matter of a public utility is in violation of the Algeiras agreement.

GEORGE SUTTON EXPELLED.

American Billiard Player Is Ordered to Leave Paris.

Paris, April 15.—The police have issued an expulsion order under the prevention of gambling law against George Sutton, the American billiard player, who recently ran a billiard school here. A delay in expulsion of 48 hours has been accorded him.

Russian Assassins Routed.

Minsk, Russia, April 15.—A band of terrorists lying in wait in a house opposite the governor's palace, apparently with the intention of assassinating the governor, was discovered Sunday by the police. In an interchange of shots a policeman was killed and two were wounded. The others escaped.

OIL TRUST GUILTY; FACES HUGE FINES

JURY FINDS STANDARD ACCEPTED ILLEGAL RATES.

TRIAL AT CHICAGO ENDS

Maximum Penalty for the Violations Charged Would Be $29,240,000 and the Minimum $1,462,000.

Chicago, April 15.—Twelve jurors in the United States district court Saturday night found the Standard Oil company of Indiana guilty of accepting illegal rates from the Chicago & Alton railroad, as charged in 1,462 counts of the indictment on which the corporation has just been tried. Should the verdict stand Judge Landis can impose aggregate fines of $29,240,000, or $20,000 on each count. If only the minimum penalty $1,000 on each count be assessed, the total would reach $1,462,000, the largest fine ever entered against a person or corporation in the history of federal courts.

The jury was out two hours and ten minutes, during which time it reached its conclusions on the large number of counts, each involving a violation of the Elkins interstate commerce law. But the verdict will be assailed by the defense.

As Joseph O'Sullivan, clerk of the court, resumed his seat after reading the finding, Attorney John S. Miller, chief counsel for the oil corporation, moved for a new trial. After dismissing the jury Judge Landis indicated he would probably hear the motion Monday morning, at which time, should he deny the plea, he may impose the penalty.

Judge in Dress Suit.

The proceedings were impressive. Judge Landis, who had been summoned by telephone from the home of a friend, where he was attending a formal dinner, was attired in a dress suit. Only the officials and attorneys for the Standard Oil company, District Attorney Sims and his assistants and some newspaper men were present.

Precisely at 9:45 o'clock the jury was ushered into the courtroom to await the arrival of the judge. A wait of only a few minutes followed, when Judge Landis appeared.

"Have you gentlemen agreed upon a verdict?" he asked, addressing the jury.

"We have, your honor," replied Foreman A. L. Parker of Stockton,

Ill., as he handed the document to the bailiff.

"Read the verdict," directed the court, speaking to Clerk O'Sullivan. 441 Counts Thrown Out.

The clerk then read the verdict finding the defendant not guilty on 441 counts, which were stricken from the records in the charge to the jury on the grounds of variance.

A moment of suspense followed, then the official continued his reading.

"We, the jury, find the defendant, the Standard Oil company of Indiana, guilty in the manner and form as set forth in the indictments in the following counts."

Judge Landis indicated it was not necessary to read the numbers unless there had been changes noted in the form of the verdict. He was informed that no counts had been stricken out.

In answer to the court's inquiry if the defense desired to make a motion, Attorney Miller rose unsteadily.

"We certainly do, your honor," he said. "We wish to enter a motion for a new trial."

"Note in the records that the defense moves for a new trial," directed Judge Landis, as the senior counsel for the defense left the courtroom.

Indictment One of Ten.

The indictment on which the verdict was returned is one of ten true bills voted by the federal grand jury of August 1906, charging the Standard Oil company of Indiana with accepting illegal concessions from a number of railroads. Two of the indictments were quashed by Judge Landis on a demurrer. All of the remaining eight true bills comprise upward of 6,000 counts, involving a maximum fine of more than $120,000,000.

The first conviction was obtained on indictment No. 3,717, familiarly known as the Alton case, composed of 1,903 counts. The offense charged was that the oil corporation accepted rates lower than the published tariffs of the Chicago & Alton railroad for the transportation of petroleum and its products from Whiting, Ind., to East St. Louis, Ill., and from Champaign, Ill., to St. Louis, Mo.

The true bill was divided into two distinct groups of counts. In the first 886 charges the allegation was made that the defendant accepted a rate of six cents a hundred pounds on oil from Whiting, Ind., to East St. Louis, Ill., when the published tariffs, naming rates available to the public, fixed the legal rate at 18 cents a hundred pounds.

The second group, composed of 1,017 counts, charge the Standard company with receiving a rate of 7½ cents a hundred pounds on oil shipped from Champaign, Ill., to St. Louis, Mo., when the published legal rate was 19½ cents.

PEACE CONGRESS PRELUDE

CHORAL SERVICE IS HELD IN CARNEGIE HALL, NEW YORK.

Thousands Unable to Gain Admission—Bishop Potter Presides, Andrew Carnegie Being Delayed.

New York, April 15.—A choral service, a fitting prelude to the first national arbitration and peace congress which is to be opened Monday, was held at Carnegie hall Sunday night. The public had been invited and responded so generally that it was necessary to call upon the police reserves to hold in line the thousands that blocked the near-by streets. Probably 5,000 persons found admittance, while thousands were unable to get within the hall.

Andrew Carnegie was to have presided at the meeting, but returning from Pittsburgh on a delayed train, he failed to reach the hall until the meeting was well under way and, when once inside the place, he was unable to make his way through the throng to the platform, and contented himself with a place in a box. In his absence Bishop Henry C. Potter presided.

Around the back and sides of the stage, on which were the speakers and the 300 members of the Oratorio society, was draped a great white curtain on which were golden stars. Along it were grouped American banners, flags and emblems, with the words "Peace for All Nations" in electric bulbs.

After selections by the Oratorio society the great audience rose and sang the hymn, "God of Our Fathers." It had been expected that a peace message from President Roosevelt would be read, but no mention of the message was made.

Dr. Emil G. Hirsch of Chicago, spoke on "The Advent of the Plow" and a letter was read from Archbishop John M. Farley.

JAMES H. ECKELS IS DEAD.

Chicago Bank President and Former Comptroller of Currency.

Chicago, April 15.—James H. Eckels, president of the Commercial National bank and one of Chicago's leading citizens, was found dead in bed at his residence Sunday morning. Death was due to heart disease. Mr. Eckels was controller of the currency during Grover Cleveland's second administration.

Princeton, N. J., April 15.—Former President Cleveland was deeply touched when he learned of the death of Mr. Eckels. He said: "I was closely related to Mr. Eckels and his death comes to me with a peculiar shock. In important public work I learned to know how intelligently and manfully he devoted himself to duty, and in the intimacy of close friendship I learned to know and appreciate his rare and attractive qualities of heart. Mr. Eckels illustrated the traits that make the best American citizenship. Deeply interested in every question connected with the public welfare, he studied them with soberness in the end that he might increase his usefulness. He was a public-spirited man who saw duty all about him, and whose influence was impressed on all his surroundings for good. Neither the immediate community in which he dwelt nor the country at large could well afford to lose a man like James H. Eckels."

Deny Having Lottery Interests.

New York, April 15.—A. Hennen Morris and Dave H. Morris, of this city, who were among the men indicted by the federal grand jury at Mobile Saturday on charges of conspiracy and violation of the law against lotteries, declare that they have no interest in any lottery enterprise. The list of those indicted includes a number of very wealthy men of New Orleans, Boston and other cities.

Charleston Cathedral Consecrated.

Charleston, S. C., April 15.—The new and beautiful cathedral of St. John the Baptist and St. Finbar, in this city, was consecrated Sunday. Cardinal Gibbons, Mgr. Diemele Falcione, the apostolic delegate, and 100 archbishops, bishops, monsignors and clergy, representing the Catholic church in America, participated.

AMATEUR BASEBALL GAMES YESTERDAY

First Ward and Railroad Team Collided—Ward Aggregations Tried Conclusions.

Two amateur baseball teams, one composed entirely of railroad men, met in a regular head-on collision yesterday and as if by miracle no equipment exploded and the umpire escaped without being blown up. Some of the players sustained muscle-strains in the impact, but none were seriously injured. The "rails" were captained by Switchman D. J. Barry and the opposing nine was George Hiller's combination from the first ward. The railway men were wrecked, making but three runs, while Hiller's players secured five. The line-up follows: Hiller's Team. "Rails." G. Hiller, c. J. Erdman. T. Foley, p. J. Mulligan. A. Drabahl, ss. Sanborn. McQuinn, 1b. R. Dunwiddie. R. Holland, 2b. W. Knipp. J. Marshall, 3b. J. Hegnrey. R. Wagner, lf. D. Barry. J. Bauer, cf. W. Brennen. J. Malbon, rf. D. Murphy. Umpire—J. Wilson of Chicago. Another game will be played next Sunday.

3d Ward 8, 4th Ward 7. The third ward baseball team opened their season yesterday in a game with a fourth ward aggregation. The former won by the close score of 8 to 7. Wheelock, Carlson and Bligh formed the battery for the losing side and the winning team, which is now ready to meet any organization in the city, is composed as follows: Butters, Godfrey, p; Graves, c; Madden, ss; DeMeres, 1b; Porter, 2b; Higgins, 3b; Boylan, lf; Flemming, cf; Godfrey, rf. 2d Ward 11, 4th Ward 6. Another fourth ward nine was beaten on Bunker hill yesterday afternoon, going down before a second ward collection. The score was 11 and 6.

RESULT OF THE HARGIS FEUD.

Clay Thomas Kills Jesse Abner and Is Arrested.

Beattyville, Ky., April 15.—Clay Thomas was arrested in Owsley county and lodged in jail here Sunday night for the murder of Jesse Abner in this county Thursday night. Thomas says Abner struck him with a rock and came near knocking him off his horse and that he drew his revolver and shot him. The killing is a result of the Hargis-Cockrell feud in which John Abner, a relative, is a central figure.

New World's Record in Swimming. Sydney, N. S. W., April 15.—David Billington, a professional swimmer, Sunday swam three-quarters of a mile in 17 minutes 36 2-5 seconds, thereby creating a new world's record.

Careful Housewives

WHEN PUTTING AWAY STOVES

Always give them a coat of 6-5-4 to make them rust proof.

It shines itself, is applied like paint, is better than any enamel for stoves, pipes or wire screens. It makes all stoves look like new.
